

Quartet to play for free

If the best things in life are free, then add a concert by the Cozzetti & Gemmill Quartet, a group specializing in acoustic and electric jazz, to your schedule on Sunday. From 1 to 3 p.m. the jazzmen will play at the Huriuchi Mural on the Seattle Center Grounds.

The quartet's latest album, "Concerto for Padre," is a hot item these days, and Tim Gemmill reports that in West Seattle's Pennylane Records it is "even out-selling the local rock group, Allies."

City Lights

Michael
Conant

